1 graphics	Design Diary - A collage of your favorite design on the front + back cover. Consider a selection from, transport, furniture, electronics, product design, textiles + fashion, architecture.		You have experienced some difficulties or perhaps lack of commitment to ensure that this learning is completed.	Some of your research is incomplete even though you feel you have worked well. The e-portfolio was a bit tricky but you feel you will get it right next time. Some of the research work you perhaps do not understand but you have made notes in your design diary for later inquiry	Most of research is completed, but you wish you had spent a little more time on the work. You found the e-portfolio quite easy to set-up but have made a few edit since you started to get the format correct. You have made a few notes in your design diary for later inquiry.	All your research is completed, well presented & laid out in your e-portfolio. You feel that you understand the information you have collected and can apply it to further work. The e-portfolio is completed and well presented. The design diary has a range of information & images.
2 research	Research &amp; Information Collected a series of images relating to tools, equipment + materials used in the project		You have experienced some difficulties or perhaps lack of commitment to ensure that this learning is completed.	You have tried to get the drawing right, but some aspects have been difficult for you- quality or accuracy for example. I need to work on the overall quality & speed of my drawing.	Most of the drawing is of good quality, related to the exemplar work. You feel that you have shown that you are good at 2-D drawing and have planned you use of time well.	All of your work is excellent quality relating to the exemplar work. The views are well positioned and the dimensioning is accurate. I didn't find the exporting too tricky.
3 design ideas	Final photo + evaluation Take and stick a final photo/s of you final product. Write a very brief evaluation explaining what you have learnt during the Teasmade project		You have experienced some difficulties or perhaps lack of commitment to ensure that this learning is completed.	The design diary is incomplete- some of the work is not stuck in properly. I feel that I can improve the overall quality next time. I asked some questions & have made reference to them in my design diary.	Most of the work I collected is well presented in the design diary although I need to reference & label the images with more detail. I can improve the overall layout.	All of my work is excellent quality, well laid out with all images references. I have used the design diary to lead some learning conversations and to ensure I remember some of the new knowledge I have learnt.
